HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

How Economical Women Can Save Money Every Day.

Do not let the clothes-line hang out at week in wind and rain. When the clothes are all in, wind it up carefully and take it into the house. A good many devices are now employed to do away with the necessity of having to put out and take in the clothes-line each week. One is a little box with a pointed rod like a blind house, with a roller attached to a crank or handle on the outside and fitted to a cog wheel within. It is then but the work of a few minutes to wind it up in its inclosure, where it is protected from rain or snow. Others use heavy galvanized wire which, when once stretched, needs no attention as it will never rust, stretch or sag as rope lines

do. Have plenty of clothes pins, their cost but a trifle, and in muddy or exposed places are a necessity.

Keep sharp knives used for cutting meat and bread for peeling vegetables. We have been in families where a great deal of time was lost in performing all these operations because there was not a sharp knife to be found in the house. The same is true of lamp scissors and the family scissors and shears. For the former purpose discarded scissors are too often used. The result is laggard wicks which not only smoke the chimneys

but give a very uncertain light. A few minutes' work will put both in good condition and save no little time and strength.

Wash flat irons each week before heating them, especially if they have been used for ironing starched clothes.

Burnt starch clinging to them spoils

the best washed garments.

Do not throw away any pieces of old linen or canvas. Very good rugs can be made of the pieces which we are apt to regard as entirely useless.

There are rug-making establishments

where, for seventy-five cents a square yard, the unsightly pieces are transformed into rugs of all sizes, from two yards square to as small as desired.

They are nicely finished with fringe and a striped border and are almost as heavy and firm as Turkish mats.

Cleanse the sinks and drains by pouring down them a plentiful supply of copperas water. It is inexpensive and prevents their being coated and choke with grease.

Cut warm bread with a hot knife

if you would avoid its becoming clammy. The pieces should be laid on a napkin as cut.

To remove fruit stain from handkerchiefs, aprons, etc., keep on hand a solution of chloride of lime made of four ounces of the chloride to a quart of water. Shake it well, allow the drops to settle, and wet the stains with the clear liquid. Rinse the cloth well before applying soap or

it will become stiff in drying.—Prairie

IMPORTED FABRICS.

Lovely Thin Materials Recently Exhibited

by Parisian Agents.

Among fashionable thin materials is shot valuing with silk, selvage an inch wide which serves as a trimming makes a spring-like dress in gray shot with green, made up over green fall; the red shot with blue is also in favor, with either red or blue selvage,

and a petticoat of silk to match the selvage. Shot materials of brilliant luster are now this season, and are both plain and striped in the same dress; the opalescent hues are seen in these fabrics—blue with yellow and pink, with the wide stripes mostly blue; blue with green, and gray with maroon, make pretty changing surfaces. All the canvas stuffs are again imported, some being given new effects by having Paisley borders.

Aristic creppings of finely-crikkled wool, and crepons with wool and linen or silk, finely wrought with silk dots,

come in the pink, blue, almond,

and pale-brown shades, and in the darkest green and brown and gray tints for street dresses. Paisley borders like those on the broche shawls of that name come on fine camel-hair for choice wool dresses; sometimes the border is only an inch wide, but in other cases it is deep enough to cover nearly all the lower skirt of a gown, and to make the small mantle or shoulder cape

work with it; there are also Paisley cambrics of large broche figures for combining with plain cotton or gray or rosea wools for long cloaks for driving or for evening wraps. Drap d'ete, Thibet cloth and cashmeres of the finest twisted surface, with finish like silk, are in all the new colors for combining with moire, or shot silk, or Bengaline, usually as a polka-dot over a petticoat of the silk fabric. White laced with the silk, and trimming of

FACTS FOR FARMERS.

Too much corn or cornmeal causes

chicken cholera.

With many varieties of trees for shelter, shade or ornament, the important item is to get them fairly rooted.

A farmer with quantities of experience says: "Of all the kinds of cattle feed I ever grew sweet fodder

corn is the best."

The farmer who feels sure will

to his swine seldom realizes that it causes derangement of the digestive organs and gives them diarrhea.

Plant corn and you will get corn;

plant thistles and you will get thistles;

plant beer and you will get a beer;

cultivate your head and you will get ahead.—Western Plowman.

The market for fat sheep shows

these days very clearly that the man who remembers that carcasses as well as fleeces are to be sold from his docks

is the shepherd who is going to win.

Good clover hay, or a variety of grass in the pasture, will give better results than an exclusively grain diet

to any kind of stock. It is the variety of food rather than the quality and quantity that promotes digestion and health.

There is danger of getting the manure in the potato hill too strong.

If barn manure, it should be rotted and composted with sand months previous to placing in the hills. A quart of manure per hill is enough.

What is claimed to be the most profitable orange tree in California is owned by Charles Raish, at Marysville. It is thirty years old and has brought as high as 4,000 oranges in a single season. Even in off years it bears at least 2,000.

The sure way to break a hen from egg-eating is to cut off her head. Prevent the habit, if possible, by giving nests lined with straw and large enough for the hen to move without breaking the eggs; also gather the eggs daily and use artificial nest eggs.

One man of good judgment and large experience in conducting farmers' meetings will accomplish more good by taking direction and holding it than a dozen men, or a hundred,

moving without system or the requisite knowledge.—Hubbardman.

For growing stock, clover is better than grain. Clover contains more lime for the production of bone and more nitrogen for the production of flesh than corn. A liberal allowance of bulky food is always best for young growing stock. Grain should only be given once a day, and sparingly, oats

being preferred.

Prof. E. W. Stewart, who is noted for his experience in stock-feeding, states that one ounce, or less, of oil-meal to a gallon of warm, sweet whey

will make it nearly equal in feeding value to whole milk for raising a calf to three weeks old, and after that another quarter of an ounce may be safely added. The oil-meal should be dissolved in hot water before mixing with that of right temperature to feed.

It is getting to be noticed that all most every thing of value has been found out by practical men, and that about all the men of science do is to explain the how and the why. This is, of course, no slight service, and should not be underrated. But it is curious how many things once con-

The remains of the celebrated musical composer, Beethoven, were exhumed a few days since and placed in a new coffin. His grave is now marked by a simple obelisk bearing only the name "Beethoven."

Fleming county authorities are having trouble enforcing the Prohibition law, and the Prohibition Executive Committee, of that county, have sent a petition to Judge Cole, requesting him to impound a special Grand jury, to take cognizance of the alleged violations.

San Francisco has had 47 earthquake shocks in eighty years, but as that is only one shock in two months there is not much to brag about. When she can point to something which has knocked down 10,000 buildings and killed 50,000 people inside of a minute she can talk.

Miss Annie Croie was kept alive several months by having grease and oil applied externally to the body, she receiving no other nutriment during the time. She died in Louisville, Monday. The case is an extremely unusual one and has elicited considerable attention and comment.

It is said that one of the penalties of being a good fellow in Congress is that half the salary goes in small loans to friends who never intend to return a dollar of it. A real good fellow need not even have Congressional aspiration to get pulled in that manner by his friends.

News comes from England that the pecky sparrows—the same nuisance with which we are daily being annoyed—damaged agriculture last year to the extent of $400,000. Wherever introduced they are known as a filthy, pugnacious, selfish, useless, nuisance.

Just as an Italian chemist had discovered a way to manufacture rare diamonds at the rate of a peck per day he got in the way of a stage and was run over and killed. Rhinestones will, therefore, have to be worn by a large majority until some one else can pick up the secret.

There is some talk of making a new style of barometer out of ground hog fat. That would open a new industry and give employment to some otherwise worthless human beings and is an excellent idea. By all means let us have the new barometer and then we could dispense with the Signal Service Bureau.

No doubt the unfortunate fellow whose wife satiated with coal oil while asleep in Cincinnati, and burned to death, was forced to remark when he awoke, as did the pin pedler whom students wrapped in a cow's hide, covered with straw and set fire to while asleep: "In h—l, just as I expected."

Since January 1st, according to the record made out by the Pittsburg Post, there have been forty strikes started, and out of this number twenty-three terminated in a victory for the employers, three in a victory for the strikers, five were compromised, four are still in existence, and in five the record is incomplete. These figures are not encouraging to the advocates of strikes as a means of settling misunderstandings.

The Virginia Republicans are very much divided among themselves and much imbittered against each other and the chances are that there will not be sufficient harmony among them in November to cut any figure in the election. The trouble arises from the fact that they all want offices and there are not offices enough for each and every one, hence the wrangle. They are unable to agree on any question sprung among themselves and all want to be bosses and big men like little Billy Mahone, the leader of one faction.

THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK

Times have been no harder in Hopkinsville than elsewhere this season. The short crops and close money markets have combined to make the people feel the "gaunt finger of poverty." But we dare say that the grumbling has been out of proportion to the distress; in fact, we believe that our section has been as little oppressed as any part of country. The crops this year are overabundant, and in a few months we expect to be in the midst of flush times.

There is nothing in the condition of affairs to give anybody an attack of melancholy about Hopkinsville's future. No sort of combination of misfortunes can keep us from doing as well as we have been doing. Our growth has been checked for a season, but this can be traced to well-known mistakes we have committed. The very fact that we are at a "standstill," as some put it, is an appeal for renewed efforts to create means and devise plans for improvement. We have plenty of public spirit here, and if we ever get it concentrated into united effort it will bear grand fruit. The harvest this fall will bring an abundance of money into the country, the people will be correspondingly enlivened, and we believe that the times are propitious for a move all along the line.

The first matter of importance is a railroad, this we must have to keep pace with the time. In order to get this somebody must relinquish "cherished hopes." Every man must strive to get himself into this frame of mind: "If I can't get what I want, I'll take what I can get; if I can't get the best thing, I'll take a good thing; if I can't get pie, I'll take pudding." We must look at this railroad question in a spirit of compromise in order that we may pull the strength of union. The outlook for the future is circumscribed by this one problem, for the time being.

Those people who think the town is dead are holding a funeral without a corpse. There is nothing encouraging in the situation. The right kind of effort will soon bring matters to a crisis, and then we will move with surprising energy. There is a heap of reserve force in this community and if given a chance it will work wonders.

The Primary Election.

We will be pardoned for explaining again the cause and necessity of the congressional primary election to-morrow. Capt. Ellis insisted from the beginning, when he had strong opposition, that the contest should be settled by a primary. He did this on pure Democratic principles that every aspirant might have a fair chance and every voter abundant opportunity to express his choice without hindrance. When by the "fortunes of war" he was left without a competitor he even then proved true to former declarations and insisted that the district committee should order a primary and adhere to this custom that is so dear to the people.

Thus the primary was ordered and the entire expense of the election falls on Capt. Ellis. We can but admire his firm adherence to principle in this respect, for it shows that he is a man of convictions and not a mere demagogue and time-server. Capt. Ellis will henceforth wear the soubriquet of "Congressman," a title carrying with it responsibilities of a weighty character and duties of a variety of degrees and conditions. He is every inch the man to discharge and carry the burden and the honor. He has grit, grit-up-and-git, talent and culture, and he will strike a winning pace before he has been in the House three weeks. It may be a little premature, but the KENTUCKIAN takes off its hat as it says "here's looking at you, congressman Ellis."

The farm hands and laborers of this county should remember that Ben Harrison is on record as saying that "a dollar a day and two meals are good enough for a working-man. When in 1887 he was speaking of the men engaged in the railroad strike, he also said:

"Were I the Governor I'd force those men back to work or shoot them down on the spot." The first law of nature is that which impels one to preserve self, and the laboring man will not assist Mr. Harrison to a position where he can "shoot them down on the spot."

There are seven parties represented by candidates for the Presidency—Democratic, by Cleveland and Thurman; Republican, Harrison and Morton; Industrial, Redstone and Colvin; Union Labor, Streeter and Cunningham; Prohibition, Fisk and Brooks; United Labor, Cowdry and Wakefield; Equal Rights, Lockwood and Love.

The polls will open at 7 o'clock in the morning. Officers have been appointed for every voting precinct in the county. Every Democrat is entitled to a vote. Capt. Ellis is now doing valiant service for the party in this district, and the people should show their appreciation for his labors by giving him a hearty endorsement for Congress to-morrow.

That the clique is under a cloud can be seen by a blind man. The people have determined that henceforth and forever none but the men of their free choice shall hold office in this county.

As war once said of a grasping Spanish monarch so can it be said of the clique: "The King goes as far as he dares, not as far as he desires."

GENERAL NEWS.

Several cases of small-pox are reported in Nashville.

C. C. Nelson an Atlanta banker has disappeared with the funds of the bank.

Leligan, May & Co., New York City, dealers in boy's clothing, have assigned. Liabilities $5,000,000.

The twenty-third annual meeting of the Tennessee Dental Association was held in Memphis, Tuesday.

Ex-Government Architect Nevius has been arrested at Pittsburgh charged with presenting fraudulent claims.

Martin Hoffstadt was arrested at Madison, Ind., charged with forgery. After a preliminary trial, before securing bondsmen, he succeeded in escaping from an officer who had him in charge, and fled to this State.

Frank McCullough, a Pennsylvanian, swallowed a small rattlesnake while drinking water. It provoked violent vomiting and was vomited up. The snake measured six inches in length. The young man has been quite sick since the occurrence.

Three different families identified a dead body at the Cincinnati morgue as a member, and a triangular fight was about to come off when the body was claimed and carried off by a fourth caller, who was the only one having a real title to it.

Clara Williams was arrested in Cincinnati, Monday, charged with stealing millinery goods from her employer. She confessed to the theft and a day was set for her trial. Tuesday morning she was found dead in bed, having ended her life by taking chloroform rather than face the disgrace which seemed inevitable.

A car having the capacity for transporting 30,000 pounds of freight was loaded with iron at West Nashville a few days ago and sent to Louisville. As the scales were temporarily out of repair, the car and its ponderous freight was not weighed before starting. When rolled on the scales at Louisville, however, it was found to have been pretty well weighted down with 71,000 pounds.

RUMSEY, KY.

Rumsey, Ky., June 29.—We should have written sooner but business prevented.

Since our last letter to the KENTUCKIAN we have been over a good portion of this county. We have made a trip in a wagon from here through Hopkins and into Christian county as far as Kelly and return. Crops generally speaking are good. Corn is flourishing, tobacco looks fine and wheat is on a boom. We saw wheat yet too green to cut, at other places harvest was going on and yet at others it was over, while at one place we saw six big mules pulling at a separator which was threshing for all that was out. It is true the corn and tobacco near Madisonville do not look very well, owing, we suppose, to dry weather. We traveled muddy roads till after we passed Pond River some three or four miles then the ground was dry till we finally struck dusty roads. Two or three miles south of Madisonville we came to the wet region again. Take it altogether we are having a fair season and crops are promising.

Mr. Henry Ballentine is having ground broken here for a half mile race track. So listen for fine trotters and fast records from Rumsey.

Circuit Court is in session now at Calhoun and the violators of the Prohibition law are catching fits. One M. D. who was indicted for giving 19 false prescriptions, has been fined an aggregate of over $800.

In my next I will tell you something of this country and its resources. Till then Rover.

Public Speaking.

The candidates for the offices of judge of the Common Pleas Court and Sheriff of Christian county will address their fellow citizens at the following times and places, viz:

Laurie's Spring	Friday	July 6th
River's Store	Saturday	July 7th
McIntosh's Store	Wednesday	July 11th
Ward's Store	Thursday	July 12th
Bennettstown	Friday	July 13th
Lafayette	Saturday	July 14th
Union School-house	Monday night	July 15th
Beverly	Tuesday night	July 17th
Longview	Wednesday	July 18th
Elmo	Thursday	July 19th
Elmo	Friday	July 20th
Pembroke	Saturday	July 21st
Rocky Hill	Sunday	July 22nd

Speaking to commence at 1 o'clock p. m., except night speaking, which will take place promptly at 8 o'clock.

BEVERLY.

BEVERLY, Ky., July 2.—The crops are looking well. We shall make an excellent crop of corn. We have had two or three weeks of continued wet weather, but the wheat is not damaged yet, except when it was cut wet. We shall make an average crop of wheat. Threshing will be the order of the day this week. Five independent rigs will start in this neighborhood, besides the company rigs. Every one in this neighborhood have secured sacks from Howell.

The tobacco crop is in excellent condition. Several men around here have tobacco large enough to top. The writer saw a leaf of tobacco that grew in Mr. John Steger's new ground, that measured fifteen inches across and 25 inches long. There are five acres of it the same size, but this is too forward as it will not get the benefit of the autumn dews.

Mrs. John Jones is better. Miss Fannie Wilson, of Howell, is critically ill with typhoid fever. Mr. Can Hutton had the misfortune to lose his little boy last week. He has our sympathy in his bereavement.

Mrs. Jesse Giles is quite ill. Two Mormon Elders have been circulating among our people but I have heard of no converts. They travel with purse or scrip.

A BORN TACKY.

Missionary Meeting.

The next meeting of the Sixth Circle will be held at Olivet, July 28 and 29, 1888. Commencing at 10 o'clock a. m. The following subjects will be discussed:

1. Consideration of the great need of this Age.—J. T. Barrow.
  2. What are the reasons why anti-mission churches decline?—J. D. Clardy.
  3. Are we responsible for the limited success of our missions? If so to what extent?—J. G. Kendall.
  4. The duty of training our children for Christ.—N. T. Watson.
  5. Proper Christian giving.—W. B. Walker.
  6. The Bible a civilizing and elevating factor among the nations of the earth.—S. P. Forgy.
  7. To select his own subject.—Calvin Metcalfe.
  8. Sermon to young men.—J. T. Barrow.
- The collecting committees are earnestly urged to be diligent and bring up the full quota of each church. Large delegations will be expected from the churches. This, the last meeting of the missionary year must be made the best of the year.

OUR HIGH PRICED COMPETITORS CRY.

"We are so sorry that the New Furniture Store is drawing the trade away from our door. We are growing tired of it's hard to bear. No more will our profits count up as fair. We have grown tired of the New Store. Doing the business we did of yore."

What can we do? Oh! how we do weep. Put us to sleep children, put us to sleep."

OUR ANSWER.

"You have been asking prices so rare. We to our customers our profits share. They are now tired of your prices you know. We have bought largely and bought so low. That we give prices to all you should know. We come to the front and soar like a lark. We are doing business while other men spark."

HERE AND THERE.

Mr. Jas. Jesup is still very sick.
The cry is not dust, but hot weather.
Coupons on all Bonds for July are now due.
This city, like all others has its loafers.
Boales & Snoddy, photographers, have dissolved partnership.
The local freights on the L. & N. did not run on the 4th.
There is no improvement in Capt. Abernathy's condition.
Hot weather and politics are about evenly discussed now.
First-class easy running rockers, for sale cheap at C. W. Ducker's.
Mrs. Maria Dunkerson is still very ill and her recovery is doubtful.
Johnny Bullard has secured a position with J. B. Galbreath.
The Crescent Milling Company declared a dividend of 6% on the 1st inst.
The candidates speak at Lantrip's spring, to-day, and at Hiser's tomorrow.
Forbes & Bro. sold this week the largest thrasher ever used in this county.
Bud Goley, Deputy Sheriff, went to Hamby's to-day on important business.
An infant child of Mr. and Mrs. William Page died yesterday morning.
We are sorry to learn of the serious illness of Miss Lizzie Bell, of Bell, Ky.
Tickets sold for the Fourth of July excursions will be good to and including July 6.
Dr. A. P. Campbell, while out hunting one day last week, lost a fine gold watch.
A special bargain in a bran new top buggy can be had by applying to C. W. Ducker.
Slaughter Givens, of Madisonville, has been appointed baggage master at this point.
There have been three mad dogs killed on the Cox Mill road this week, near the city.
Capt. C. T. Allen, of Princeton, and Hon. Jas. R. Garnett made speeches at Cerulean, Wednesday.
The Republican jubilee which was to have taken place on the night of the 7th, has been declared off.
Prof. Hitchcock, of Monona, Iowa, will have the supervision of the Elkton public schools next scholastic year.
Hon. Jas. T. Barbee, state prohibition organizer, is down on the bills for an address in this city on the 20th inst.
One of the wheels of the street sprinkler was crushed Wednesday, but was replaced at once by another and work resumed.
The small boys made the city hideous with their cries, and pistol, firecracker and Roman candle shooting, Wednesday night.
Mr. J. D. Shaw, of Fairview, has purchased property in the city and will shortly move his family here, where he will engage in business.
The glorious Fourth was celebrated pretty generally all over this county and various knock downs and small-fry fights are being reported.
A large crowd went down to Crofton, on the Fourth, and attended the picnic and brandance which was reported as being a grand success.
Mr. G. M. Smith, who has for some time filled the position as baggage master at this point, has been appointed ticket agent at Princeton, Ky.
Prof. J. W. Rest delivered a Sunday School address at Little Hope church, near Clarksville, last Saturday.
John Hendrick, who struck Tom Boyd in front of the court house, Monday, after the speaking, was tried Tuesday before the City Court and fined one cent and the costs.
F. L. Ellis & Co. received the first wheat put on this market this season, Wednesday. It was raised by Messrs. Meacham & Shipp and graded No. 2, and was in good condition.
The grand masquerade ball given at Clarksville, Wednesday night, was largely attended and everything passed off pleasantly, all of those present having had a gay time.
Bascom Gill has secured a position with the McCormick factory at Chicago, and left last week to take the situation. He has recently been in the employ of Jno. R. Green & Co.
W. B. & C. T. Mason sold nineteen threshers this season, besides an engine or two and a number of mowers. They advertised extensively and have reaped the reward bountifully.
Owen Sullivan was before the City Court yesterday, charged with drunkenness. He was fined $5 and fancy trimmings, which total he paid promptly and went on his way rejoicing.
Miss Maria Sheegow, a very old lady, who has been a resident of Hopkinsville for many years, died Tuesday night and her remains were interred in the City Cemetery Wednesday afternoon, funeral service being held at the Episcopal church. Cork Ireland, was her birthplace from which she came many years ago and taught school in this county for a number of years.

There is nothing new in railroad matters just now.

A number of our citizens met Monday night for the purpose of discussing the situation of Hopkinsville relative to the O. V. railroad. An additional $25,000 was agreed upon as the amount to be given as an extra inducement and the officials of the road will be conferred with at an early date about the matter. In the mean time all other companies, with their propositions, will stand aside until this O. V. matter is settled.
In this issue appears an advertisement of the celebrated White Sulphur Springs, situated in Greenbrier county, W. Va. This is given up to be the most pleasant place to be found in the mountains and is justly termed the "Queen of Greenbrier." The water this season was never better and under the management of Mr. B. F. Eakle, this popular resort promises to excel all previous seasons. For any information regarding rates, &c., a letter to Mr. Eakle will promptly bring it.
The opening ball at Dawson comes off to-night, given by the Arcadia Company in their spacious ball room. A good crowd from the city will be present, quite a number having already gone over and others will yet go. This promises to be the grandest ball ever given at Dawson and every effort will be made to make it a signal success and under the management of such men as Messrs. Holeman & Pritchett, nothing but success could be expected.
The telephones—bells and all—have at last come, and Penny Turner is now happy. The instruments will be placed in position in a few days. Penny deserves more than passing praise for the energy displayed by him in inaugurating a telephone system in the city. Already there are about forty subscribers for a start and no doubt many others will fall in line to the tune of "Hello Mr. 'Hello yourself!"
Taking the statements of farmers as a basis the wheat crop of the present season will be the largest grown in this county for several years. The corn is in very fine condition and gives promise of an abundant yield. With fruit plentiful, as the prospects bid, there is no danger of starving just yet.
The Cerulean barbecue, we learn, was a very pleasant affair. Good order prevailed throughout the day and while the crowd was not so large as on former occasions everyone seemed to enjoy him or her self, and there were "just enough to have a good time."
The colored man thought to have been fatally shot at Earlington last Monday, did not die and is considered out of danger by his physicians. The colored preacher who did the shooting is out on a small bond, and the matter will likely end where it now rests.
The colored people "exulted" to Earlington Wednesday, and celebrated the Fourth in good style. Dancing and merry making was the order of the day, and for dinner they took in the Cincinnati barbecue which is always on hand on these festive occasions.
The practice of shooting upon the streets in the southern part of the city at night is again becoming common and unless it is broken up it will soon be dangerous to pass up South main after dark for fear of being struck by a stray bullet.
There are several mud holes on Fourteenth street, between Main and Railroad, which need filling badly, and the citizens in that vicinity are much annoyed because of the failure of the city to do its duty in the premises.
Some sneak thief entered Buckner Leavell's drug store, Monday, while he was out and Dr. Armistead, in the rear room, and secured about $5 from the cash drawer and made good his escape. The theft was not detected for some time after it was committed.
The prospects are now that there will be a large crop of melons raised in Christian county this season than was ever raised in the history of the county. Some farmers have planted as many as ten acres in the various melons.
Complaint is again made that a gang of colored people nightly congregate in the vicinity of the depot on Ninth street, and make themselves generally obnoxious to persons passing and those living in the neighborhood.
Joe Lyddane, a lunatic, was brought from Owensboro to this city, Monday, and placed in the Asylum. His home is in West Louisville.
The Child's Bible
Is cordially welcomed in Hopkinsville. It is one of the few books that more than satisfies the family, and is increasingly valued the longer it is used.
Dr. C. H. Strickland, of the 1st Baptist church of Nashville, says: "After looking through 'The Child's Bible,' it affords me sincere pleasure to recommend it to old and young. Parents will find it of peculiar and rare service in interesting their children in the study of Holy Writ."
Rev. Arthur M. Gowden, of the Christian church in Franklin, Tenn., Rev. W. R. Peebles, of the M. E. Church, Clarksville, Tenn., Dr. De Witt and Dr. T. F. Martin, of Nashville, have bought the book and speak of it in terms of the highest praise. Examine the book while you have the opportunity. If the agent places we learn, fully one thousand people attending at Guthrie. It is said to be the best twenty-five cent

M. Frankel Dead.

The sad news of the death of M. Frankel was received in this city Tuesday morning. His death occurred in Cincinnati Monday night, and was caused from inflammatory rheumatism. He had only been sick a few days and not until Monday morning did his friends and relatives realize that death was so near at hand, when they telegraphed his sons here to come at once that he was very sick. They immediately left for his bedside but reached there after death had claimed its victim. When his death was announced upon the streets here it cast a gloom over the entire business circle as Mr. Frankel had been identified with the business interests of the city for many years. He was a stockholder in many of the leading enterprises of the city and was a progressive and energetic business man and the city has lost one of its strongest pillars and foremost lights. Mr. Frankel had only recently taken up his residence in Cincinnati, his business interests still being here, and was making preparations to return to this city this week, to spend several months, when he was taken sick. His remains were buried in the Jewish Cemetery in Cincinnati, Wednesday afternoon, a large concourse of friends and relatives accompanying them to their last resting place.
Death of Mr. Chas. W. Radford
Mr. Charles W. Radford who has been very sick and almost helpless for many months, died at his residence on South Virginia Street, at 10:30 o'clock, Tuesday night, aged seventy-six years. For several years he has been a great sufferer, suffering with a complication of diseases, which he bore with christian fortitude until death relieved him of his fetters. Mr. Radford was a man who had many friends and no enemies and had been a resident of the county for years. Funeral services were held at his residence Thursday after which his remains were conveyed to the City Cemetery for interment. He had long been a member of the Baptist church and died as he had lived, a christian.
Excursion to Old Point and Other Places.
The 7th of August is the date selected upon to run the excursion to Old Point Comfort, and a special train over the C. & O. will connect at Nortonville on that date with the L. & N. train which passes here at 10:05 a. m., going north. A large number have already signified their intention of going on the excursion and if there are others who wish to go they should leave their names at the South Kentucky office, or for further particulars call on or address W. A. Wilgus.
The Concert a Success.
The entertainment given at the Opera House, Tuesday night, by the ladies of the Charity Association was a successful affair in all respects. A very large crowd turned out to witness the entertainment, showing their appreciation of the noble object for which it was given. The musical features of the evening deserve special mention and elicited more than ordinary applause. The programme was carried out to the letter and want of space prevents our giving it fully and the names of those taking part. All participating acquitted themselves handsomely, proving to the large audience assembled that each one had thoroughly mastered his or her part. Mr. Samuel J. Hodgson, of Clarksville, took part in the exercises, adding much to the success of the evening's entertainment, as also did Miss Myers, of Louisville. The society farce, "Mouse Trap," was played concluding the programme when the audience adjourned to the club building to partake of the elegant refreshments spread. Only a small entrance fee was charged and peculiarly as well as otherwise the affair was decidedly a success.
Lizzie Willis, col., who was arrested Saturday, charged with attempt to poison, was tried before Squire Tinsley, yesterday, and acquitted.
Heavy Rain Fall.
About 9 o'clock Tuesday morning there was the heaviest rain fall in the south part of the county, near Rich Station, on the I. A. & T. railroad, that was every known to fall in that section. It rained in torrents for two hours, washing fences, culverts, &c., away, and doing great damage to other property. The scope of country suffering most was that lying along the railroad between Newstead and Durham, and there were several very bad wash outs on the railroad. The following are some of the losses: Tom Baker, $150 worth of hay; Mat Cayce, about 150 bushels of wheat and 45 acres of tobacco submerged; E. B. Lyle, 50 bushels wheat, and tobacco badly damaged; Clint Cayce, crop of wheat and tobacco badly damaged. Roads were washed out and torn to pieces and things presented a frightful appearance after the water spout had spent its force. The cloud was dark and angry but there was a noticeable absence of lightning, which usually accompanies such a cloud. Hands were soon at work on the damaged part of the railroad fills and in a few hours had made necessary repairs.
Miles Orton's Circus gave an exhibition at Guthrie yesterday last week and one at Scherer, Wednesday. It was patronized liberally at both places we learn, fully one thousand people attending at Guthrie. It is said to be the best twenty-five cent

BEAUTY OF FORM IN OUTLINE OF DRESS AND HOW TO OBTAIN IT.
Something for Dress-Makers to Study and Customers to Understand.
That there is such a thing as beauty of lines and perfection in proportion in a dress, but few people realize until they have given the subject a little thought. We are making great progress in all the arts and sciences and our knowledge upon nearly every subject is constantly increasing. But we find that dress making as an art is sadly defective at that those who are having their dresses made and paying big prices are bitterly complaining of the result they often get. It is a great vexation to try to find an artist and have it made without due regard to correct principles or without an eye to the beautiful.
That dress makers are improving in their methods there is no doubt, but that the masses of the people are gaining more in ideas and a knowledge of what is proper to wear and how to wear it is also true.
No one factor has had so much to do with this agitation and uprising in public sentiment as has the National Garment Cutter, and many dressmakers of wide reputation in the North owe a larger amount of their success and popularity to the use of this system than to anything else.
There is beauty in style, a perfection in proportion of one part to another, an ease of fit and gracefulness in the curves and outlines of the costumes cut by the National Garment Cutter that it is impossible to produce by any other known method. Dressmakers in many parts of the country realizing these facts have hastened to use them and their customers instead of sending their finer dresses to a distance are having them made by home dressmakers and getting the desired results.
Many ladies in Hopkinsville send away and have all their best work done from home, but after this we hope to see it different. Our home dressmakers should learn if they have not already learned, and do the best work that it is possible to do and then our wealthy citizens should patronize them.
That dressmakers in the south are not up to the standard it should be or that it is in some other parts of the country will not be denied, but now that the feeling has been aroused upon this subject, let home dressmakers learn to do this best work and let the citizens give them a proper patronage and encouragement after they have learned.

Monthly Crop Report.

OFFICE OF COMMISSIONER OF AGRICULTURE AND STATISTICS, FRANKFORT, KY., July 1, '88.

The reports of 80 counties have been received, embracing every agricultural section of the State. The reports date from the 15th to the 25th of June, and average about the 25th. At the time many of them were made up, some parts of the State were suffering from a drouth of about six weeks duration, and embraced a very critical period of the growth of many of our crops. The spring being late, and remarkably cool, with a drouth added, was well enough for wheat, but was well nigh ruinous to the grasses, clover and garden products. But in the meantime, farmers were cultivating the soil; and when the blessed rains came, the ground dried, the crops were clear, and a new rapid growth of their stunted state. With an average season from now on they will approximate a good average except as to grasses and clover which had been partially killed by drouth last summer.

The wheat, in many sections, was then on the ground, caused by the drouth of last winter, but the yield is a good one, with a full, plump berry, and very little complaint of chert, or of smut.

The corn crop is now very promising, having a good stalk and a fine dark green color.

The tobacco crop has been the subject of much comment and a variety of opinions.

The tobacco section lying generally west of the L. & N. Railroad has been much more seasonable, especially in the southwestern part of the State, than the section lying generally east of that line of road. In the Western Division but very little complaint was made as to plants, and the crop is reported an average, with a good stand, and in good condition. In the central and east parts of the State they had great complaint of the scarcity of plants, and were generally subjected to the drouth at the time the rain began, had about 50 per cent. of an average on the hill. The increase in acreage and condition since the rain will be considerable. The increase in acreage will depend more on the ability to get plants than anything else.

The fruit crop is a large one. The condition of live stock has been impaired by scarcity of food. All things taken together, the farmer has cause for congratulation.

The reports as to the condition of commercial fertilizers are decidedly conflicting. In some counties they are quite popular and their use increasing, while in others, just the reverse is the fact. Their use in the culture of wheat seems to be better results than in that of tobacco; but all agree that the fertilizing material should be thoroughly incorporated with the soil before seeding or planting.

We call attention to the results of reliable 3, giving comparative prices of tobacco, corn and wheat. Any discrepancy occurring in the increased acreage on tobacco, wheat and corn, and the size of the crop on a general average, may be accounted for on the ground of a larger number of reports for tobacco being sent from sections more favored with good seasons. I have sent out letters of inquiry to a large number of farmers and the answers received from all sections to schedule 3 give the comparative acreage in tobacco, wheat and corn as follows:

Tobacco.

Number of acres planted by 541 farmers in 1886, 5,254; in 1887, 5,327; in 1888, 5,633.

Wheat.

Number of acres sowed by 554 farmers in 1887, 16,059; in 1888, 17,339.

Corn.

Number of acres planted by 554 farmers in 1886, 19,242; in 1888, 21,632.

Following is the general State average of crops, live stock, etc. Schedule one will appear in the annual report:

AVERAGE AMOUNT OF LIVE STOCK AND AVERAGE SIZE OF CROPS.

Horses, 96; mules, 91; cattle, 92; hogs, 86; sheep, 80; poultry, 90; bees, 89; corn, 93; wheat, 88; rye, 82; barley, 79; oats, 90; sorghum, 100; hemp, 100; flax, 90; clover, 74; grass, 90; tobacco, 90; potatoes, 80; apples, 100; peaches, 100; grapes, 100; berries, 100; garden products, 100; dairy products, 98.

PRESENT CONDITION.

Horses, 90; mules, 90; cattle, 92; hogs, 91; sheep, 100; poultry, 101; bees, 105; corn, 95; wheat, 88; rye, 88; barley, 86; oats, 75; sorghum, 100; flax, 90; clover, 74; grass, 90; tobacco, 90; potatoes, 80; apples, 100; peaches, 100; grapes, 100; berries, 100; garden products, 95; dairy products, 93.

Respectfully,
CHAS. W. WILSON,
Commissioner of Agriculture.

Short, spicy, pithy letters are appreciated by both the KENTUCKIAN and its many readers, and we would be pleased to hear from the various sections of this and adjoining counties as often as news presents itself.

Renews Her Youth

Mrs. Phoebe Chesley, Peterson, Clay Co., Iowa, tells the following remarkable story, the truth of which is vouched for by the residents of the town: "I am 73 years old, have been troubled with kidney complaint and lameness for many years; could not dress myself without help. Now I am free from all pain and lameness, and am able to do all my own housework. I owe my thanks to Electric Bitters for having renewed my youth, and removed completely all disease and pain." Try a bottle, 50c, and $1 at Harry B. Garner's City Pharmacy.

Worth Knowing.

Mr. W. H. Morgan, merchant, Lake City, Fla., was taken with a severe cold, attended with a distressing cough and running into consumption in its first stages. He tried many so-called popular cough remedies and steadily grew worse. Was reduced in flesh, had difficulty in breathing and was unable to sleep. Finally tried Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and found immediate relief, and after using about a half dozen bottles found himself well and has had no return of the disease. No other remedy can show so grand a record of cures, as Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Guaranteed to do just what is claimed for it. For sale at Harry B. Garner's City Pharmacy.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. Sold by Harry B. Garner, City Pharmacy.

A MAGNIFICENT TEMPLE.

THE SCOTTISH RITE CATHEDRAL IN THE QUEEN CITY.

Description of the Most Perfect and Luxurious Masonic Temple in the World. The audience Room, Parlors, Banquet Hall, and Other Chambers. "There's Nothing But Can Dwell in Such a Temple."

The Free and Accepted Mason who has not heard of the new shrine of his fellowship at Cincinnati is a rare avia; the opportunity of a lifetime is offered now to visit the city, the Centennial Exposition, and this famous shrine, the Scottish Rite Cathedral, under the cheap rates that prevail during the hundred days of the Exposition. The importance of Masonry and its direct bearing on the progress of the world is recognized by the Commissioners, and "Masonic Day" will be one of the great events of the hundred days. And to the fact of pilgrimage to this temple at this time will be a pleasure never to be forgotten. It has been claimed by many who have visited all of the principal Masonic fairs that this Scottish Rite Cathedral at Cincinnati, with its richly decorated audience room, luxurious parlors, commodious banquet hall and its various sacred chambers, is unequaled throughout the world. And if the inner precincts, from which the "vulgar profanum" are excluded, bear out the same air of oriental splendor and pomp that one sees in the more open courts and corridors, the claim of pre-eminence for it is well founded. This remarkable edifice is situated upon Broadway, between Fourth and Fifth streets and was formerly occupied by the First Presbyterian Society, as their church building. It was purchased of that society some three or more years ago, and its interior refitted and embellished in the most sumptuous manner. The exterior is of stone, the classical architecture is maintained, with minarets and spire, and over the central doors in gilt roman letters, arches, one reads

SCOTTISH RITE, A. A. CATHEDRAL.

To the right of the church, facing the street, has been constructed a wing, which extends the whole length of the building, and serves as the main entrance and corridor, over this like the historic injunction, "know thyself" over the ancient temple of the Delphian Oracle, is written in no uncertain sentiment: "Proci, O Proci Est, Profant." But let us enter. The door opens into a large corridor with the impression of walls and ceilings and handsome tile flooring. Light is admitted through richly stained cathedral glass windows reaching from the ceiling to the waist-scoring. This corridor connects with the audience hall by four double doors. There is also a main exit from the hall through the large front doors.

The great audience hall, under the sublimous light that penetrates the stained glass windows, like dim shadows through banks of dense tinted fog, is a marvelous study in interior art decoration. Walking over the rich dark crimson carpet, and seeing the impression of reverence and awe sizes upon one as he gazes up and around; the hall, the galleries, the organ in the left and the stage, gorgeous in its decorations, and complete in all its appointments, make up a rare synthesis of those imposing sentiments, holiness, melody and historicism. The ceiling is a prime specimen of fresco art; there are four groups of allegorical characters in the different corners, and one elegantly wrought center piece. These groups each have a symbolic meaning, representing the arts and the sciences, all culminating in religion and the divine principle of faith. The galleries are commodious, extending around three sides to the stage, and have been highly decorated in tints and gilt by the frescoist. The stage is one of the main features of the Temple. Upon either side are two tiers of private boxes, upper and lower, surmounted by mosquito-like roofs, as the summits of which are two gilded double-headed eagles, with extended pinions. The set and shifting scenery provided with all the accommodations are sufficient to represent any land, sea, palace, temple or site which may be required in the varied ceremonies of masonry. And the elaboration of these scenes, the scenic artist has made no sparingly of.

The advantage, therefore, which this hall possesses for the observance of the several rites of the order can be understood by the initiated; and both in respect to convenience and economy of space and time it will be allowed that no better facilities could be discovered. The rear of the hall and transversely across the cathedral is another corridor leading to the parlors, the costume room, and the armory and also to the large banquet hall. Below these are the kitchen, the engine and boiler rooms, all complete in every respect.

These make up the attractive portions of the order temple; but there is still much more space to cover in the lower story, which is what we shall see. There are underground passages, crypts, and mysterious chambers which it is forbidden to visit and much more to describe. The pilgrims however to this magnificent temple, who come with the open season of the free and accepted Mason will find here hospitality, as well as a fraternal greeting, when, "From the four corners of the earth they come to kiss the shrine!"

AN ORIENTAL EXHIBIT.

Persian Rugs, Swords of Damascus, and the Draperies of the Dark-Eyed Haddas.

The knowledge to be gained by the visitors to the coming Centennial is far more potent in its diversity and character than can be decided by cursory note. It would require whole tomes to tell of the wonderful things to be seen there. The world, it may be said, has never been so open to the eye as now. The scientist, no less than the artist, or mechanic, may stand amazed before the cosmic vision. The witnesses to the result of this scheme, so mighty that it appeals the ordinary brain, are the real beneficiaries of its greatness. Men may learn from years of being able at some point of their lives, to traverse the haunts of youth, and of gathering treasures and knowledge at the ancient shrines, yet can fall, perhaps, to recognize the value of the privileges thus afforded them by this enterprise. Wherever float the waters of civilization, there is cognizance of this exhibit, and the workers in brass and iron, as well as of stone, bronze and wood, will lie there with specimens of their genius to the end that their fame may be known throughout the earth, and yet future harvests.

Yesterday I saw a dark-eyed, tiny citizen of Damascus, who is here for the purpose of erecting a booth in the department of arts for his textures, the like of which was never before the New Orleans Fair shown in America. The boastful words of Nanman, the Leper, and the waters of Ahab and Pharaoh better than all the waters of Israel" may find their rival in the assurance of this sombre-eyed Turk (whose name is Fares H. Ferzan, Zonnk Mekati, and home Lebanon, in Syria, from whence the cedars of "The Temple" were brought as precious woods), that he has textures more than seven hundred years old, some of which he showed us, valued at something over two thousand dollars in our money, the colors of which are as glaring as yesterday dried from the dip. Perhaps once only in a lifetime will opportunity be given for a sight of such well-silken precious things. Nothing more than these, said the New Orleans Piousness, attracted the attention of the curio-lovers at their exhibit. The colors are fadeless, every ounce of silk being washed, boiled and otherwise tested, till the impossibility of change is made a fact. He weaves the gold foil filament, and the wonderful threads into cloths before our eyes, on a loom that has been the property of his family for centuries, as well as the method of work, materials and secret alloys. A genuine Cachemire shawl is among his precious stores, and embroidered on craps, with the thread of gold seems like a phantom, and colors so rare they might have been resurrected from the sea depths. He showed a lace woven from the inner bark of a tree that grows on Pharaoh's sunny shores. He will bring to this temple at this time will be a pleasure never to be forgotten. It has been claimed by many who have visited all of the principal Masonic fairs that this Scottish Rite Cathedral at Cincinnati, with its richly decorated audience room, luxurious parlors, commodious banquet hall and its various sacred chambers, is unequaled throughout the world.
